

Professional, efficient and reliable: How a strong partnership keeps G&E Partners coming back to Kyloe

G&E Partners relationship with Kyloe began four years ago, after a recommendation from their Bullhorn account manager. From the very first project, the foundations were set for a trusted, long-term partnership focused on smooth data transitions as the business expanded.

"The team are highly qualified in what they do, they understand every aspect of what's needed for the client and how to get there. Kyloe have always delivered to the highest quality which is something we look for in a partner."

Why Kyloe?

Having completed four projects with Kyloe, G&E Partners describes the decision to return as "a no-brainer." Consistent quality, reliability, and a record of delivering smooth migrations with minimal issues have made Kyloe their trusted implementation partner of choice.

"We've had positive experiences every time we've used Kyloe, the work is performed to a high standard and we've had minimal issues when using their services. When we've had the need to migrate data, it has been a no-brainer to use Kyloe again - due to having the experience with them before, ensuring a smooth process."

How did Kyloe help you?

Their most recent engagement involved running two simultaneous company-merge projects, both requiring Bullhorn-to-Bullhorn migrations with duplicate removal and rapid turnaround.

"Due to company merges, we needed to migrate data from one Bullhorn instance to another. We had the layouts very similar, so Kyloe spoke to me on several occasions regarding what data to migrate, removing duplicates, and also ensuring that we were able to get this process done as fast as possible with minimal disruption to our team."

"Every time I have worked with Kyloe (4 times now) I've had great communication and rapport with the employees from all levels across the business. Everything is very prompt, organised, and it has always been an easy process to go through."

What has been the impact?

By consolidating systems quickly and accurately, Kyloe helped G&E Partners reduce complexity, accelerate timelines, and enhance visibility.

"We have been able to get the mergers running as fast as possible, with more data available for our employees. Visibility and tracking consultants is also easier and due to the removal of duplicates, it has also led to cleaner data"

How would you describe Kyloe in three words?

"Professional. Efficient. Reliable"
